

Stereotypes: True or Not?

Stereotypes in real life

Do you recognize these? Which ones have you actually heard?

Have you ever been stereotyped?

What stereotype have you heard about your hometown, your generation, or your job?

Did it match your own experience? Why or why not?

How did it make you feel, and what did you say or do?

Can a stereotype be positive?

"Asians are good at math." Is this a compliment, or does it put pressure on kids?

"Teachers are warm and caring." What happens when a teacher is not?

What is the difference between "My colleague Li is good with numbers" and "All Chinese people are good with numbers"?

Personal reflection: a stereotype that wasn't true

Think of a stereotype you once believed. When did it change?

What can we do about stereotypes?

A friend says, "Gen Z only wants to lie flat (躺平) and play games." What do you say?

The next time you catch yourself thinking, "All ____ are like that," what can you do before you speak?

Have you ever changed your mind about a group of people? What changed it?

Is it ever okay to generalize? Where is the line between a stereotype and a useful first impression?
