

Discussion on Education

Personal Learning Habits

Are you studying or learning anything these days? What is it, and how many hours a week do you spend on it compared with your school days?

What is your learning style? Do you learn best by listening, reading, doing things, or something else?

Do you go to the library? What kind of study environment do you prefer?

Do you listen to music while you study? What kind of music helps you focus?

Do you prefer group study or studying alone? Which one suits you better?

For how many hours can you study before you get tired or lose focus?

Does studying ever exhaust you? Can it be as tiring as physical labor, and how do you get your energy back?

Have you earned any certificates or awards through studying that you are proud of?

What gives you the motivation to study new things?

School Days and Reflection

Do you remember a typical day as a high school student? What was it like, and do you feel nostalgic about it?

What were your favorite and least favorite subjects in school? Which ones did you find easy, and which were difficult?

Did you learn any life skills at school, such as cooking or managing money?

What do you think schools should teach but currently do not?

Is there anything you studied at school that you now think was a waste of time?

If you could go back in time, what would you do differently in your school life?

Ways of Learning and Teachers

There are many ways to learn these days: courses, private tutors, online videos. Which way do you prefer, and what are the pros and cons?

How do you feel about studying online? Is it better than learning in a classroom?

What have you learned on your own, without a teacher or formal education?

Would you like to study overseas? Where would you go, and what would you study?

Who has taught you a lot in your life?

How important is good parenting when it comes to education? Do you have any personal experience to share?

Have you ever considered becoming a teacher? Why or why not?

Is a teacher necessary for learning? Why or why not?

Exams and the Education System

How do you feel about tests and exams? Are they necessary?

Are standardized tests a fair way to measure a student's knowledge? Why or why not?

Do you think scoring well on standardized tests leads to a successful career?

Recently, many high schools in China announced a "two days off" policy. What do you think of it?

Do we have a good education system in China? What are its strengths and weaknesses, and which schools are considered the best?

Education, Society and the Future

What does education mean to you?

How important is education for an individual, a society and a country?

What are the three most important subjects to study, and why?

How many years do you have to study something before you become an expert at it?

What are the elderly and the young learning now? What can they learn from each other?

What kinds of things will be important to learn in the next ten years?

How can technology, such as AI, improve the way students learn in the future?

Do you prefer to spend time with people of a similar level of education to yourself?