Healthy Lifestyle

Eat Well

Fill half your plate with vegetables, and add fruit every day.
Drink about 8 cups of water — keep a bottle on your desk at work.
Pick whole grains like oats or brown rice over white rice.
Cut back on milk tea, cola, and late-night fried snacks.
Eat one home-cooked meal a day instead of takeout.

Move More

Aim for 150 minutes of exercise a week — about 30 minutes, five days.
Walk or cycle for short trips instead of taking a car or the subway.
Take the stairs when you are only going up a few floors.
Do two strength sessions a week: push-ups, squats, or gym time.
Stand up and stretch every hour if you sit at a desk all day.

Sleep Well

Try to sleep 7 to 9 hours a night.
Go to bed and get up at the same time, weekends included.
Put your phone face down an hour before bed.
Keep the room dark, quiet, and a little cool.
Skip coffee after 3 p.m. if you toss and turn at night.

Mind and Mood

Take ten quiet minutes a day — breathe, or just sit with tea.
Write down three good things from your day before bed.
Talk to someone when you feel stressed instead of holding it in.
Take a real lunch break instead of eating at your desk.
Say no to extra shifts when you are already running on empty.

People Around You

Call your parents or a close friend at least once a week.
Join one group — a run club, a dance class, a board-game night.
Find a health buddy so you both keep showing up.
Make time for coffee with a friend, not just WeChat messages.
Ask for help early when you are struggling.

Stay on Top of It

Go for a check-up once a year, even when you feel fine.
Keep your vaccinations up to date.
Track your sleep, steps, or mood in your phone for a month.
Keep chips and cola out of the cupboard at home.
Check in with yourself each month and fix one small thing.

Discussion

Do you think you have a healthy lifestyle? Why or why not?

What did you eat yesterday? Was any of it bad for you?

How much do you sleep on a normal night? Is that enough?

How do you fit exercise into a busy work week?

What is your worst health habit, and why is it hard to stop?

What do you do when you feel stressed or burned out?

Do you drink enough water, or mostly tea and coffee?

How often do you order takeout? Do you want to change that?

Who keeps you motivated to stay healthy? How do they do it?

Is it easy to eat well in your city, or is takeout everywhere?

Do you go for a yearly check-up, or only when you feel sick?

How much time do you spend sitting each day? Does it worry you?

What do you do to relax after a long day?

Do you exercise alone or with friends? Which works better for you?

What would you change first to live a healthier life?

Do your parents worry about your health? What do they say?

Have you ever tried a diet or a fitness app? How did it go?

What is one small healthy habit you could start this week?