Making Friends on Social Media

Who You Add

1. How many of your WeChat friends have you actually met in person?
2. Do you accept friend requests from people you have never met?
3. What makes you follow someone — their posts, photos, or humor?
4. How do you decide an online stranger is worth chatting with?
5. Have you ever removed or blocked a friend? What happened?
6. Do you keep online friends separate from your real ones?
7. Do you ever add someone you met once at a party or a meeting?

Real or Just Good-Looking

1. When you post, do you share real life or only the nice parts?
2. Do you post only photos you have edited and filtered? Why?
3. How do you feel when your post gets very few likes?
4. Have you ever copied a friend's post or a trend you saw?
5. How honest are people about their lives on Moments or short video?
6. Can you tell when someone online is faking their life?
7. Do you compare your life with your friends' feeds? How does it feel?

Making a Real Connection

1. What is the best way to start a message to a new online friend?
2. Do you prefer chatting by text, by voice message, or by video?
3. How long before chatting starts to feel like a real friendship?
4. What do you talk about with someone you only know online?
5. Do you remember your online friends' birthdays or big days?

6. What makes an online friend different from an old pen pal?

7. Have you ever sent a gift or helped a friend you met online?

Staying Safe

1. Have you ever heard of someone being tricked by an online "friend"?

2. What tricks do scammers use to win your trust?

3. Would you share your address or ID with someone you met online?

4. What do you do if a stranger online asks you for money?

5. How do you check whether a new online friend is real?

6. What is one safety rule you never break online?

7. Should apps warn you when a stranger seems suspicious?

From Screens to Real Life

1. Have you ever met an online friend in person? How did it go?

2. Where would you meet someone for the first time — a café or a mall?

3. Is it easier to make friends online or face to face? Why?

4. Can an online friendship be as strong as an offline one?

5. What is the best thing you have gotten from an online friendship?

6. Does social media help you feel less lonely, or more?

Friendships That Fade

1. Why do some online friendships quietly stop one day?

2. Do you ever feel tired of keeping up with too many friends?

3. Have you ever lost a friend because of something posted online?

4. Is it okay to unfollow a friend without telling them?

5. How do you keep a friendship going when you are both busy?

6. What makes a friendship worth the effort to keep?
